Project Description

This project is to support English language education in Ecuador by conversing directly with English language students via a digital video connection. Many Ecuadorian English students will become English teachers, of which there is a great need in Ecuador. The students are located in cities throughout Ecuador, and many lack the opportunity to interact with native English speakers. The interns will be provided with idiomatic language material to facilitate conversations. Exact lesson plans are not required, but this could be good practice for students who plan to pursue teaching as a profession. As part of reporting requirements, interns are required to report on progress with the Mission contract on a monthly basis. Program time commitment for Interns includes a total of two hours per week English conversation.
